CHINESE DELEGATES WIN GREAT MORAL VICTORY

NEARLY $200,000 DAMAGE DONE BY HUNTSVILLE FIRE

(International News Service.)

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Nov. 25.—Fire, originating in the Spring City Milling company's big flour mill here early this morning, destroyed the mill, the Swift and Company's office and warehouse and a store adjoining, entailing a total loss of nearly $150,000.

The estimated losses are: Spring City Milling company $120,000, insured with the Lansing Mutual for about $100,000; Swift and company office and warehouse $50,000, no insurance; W. S. Smith, general merchandise, $2,500, insurance $1,000.

The mill, which was a frame structure, was ablaze a moment after the flames were discovered.

FORD DECLARED TO BE NEGOTIATING FOR WHEELER ESTATE

Engineers representing Henry Ford, who is bidding for the Muscle Shoals project, are said to have been negotiating with owners of the big estate of the late General Joseph Wheeler, between here and Sheffield, looking to the purchase of the plantation by Ford, according to rumors in circulation in business circles here today.

The Wheeler plantation is not far distant from the banks of the Tennessee river and is one of the largest in this section of the state in point of acreage. Many persons professed to see in the rumored project, a plan of Mr. Ford for large developments in that vicinity.

FARMERS JOINING IN BUREAU PLANS

LIVINGSTON, Ala., Nov. 25—(Special)—With four communities covered and fourteen to go, 58 farmers of Sumter county have already become members of the proposed Sumter County Farm Bureau, with indications that many times this number will become members before the membership drive is over.

County Agent R. G. Arnold, who is co-operating in organizing the Farm Bureau in this county, reports that the plan of the membership drive is unlike that which has been used in the other counties, in that it will continue over a period of three or four weeks, at the conclusion of which the Sumter County Farm Bureau will be set up and put in operation at a county-wide meeting which will be held here.

In order to comply with the demands of the farmers and business men of the county, local meetings are being held and very strong Farm Bureau demands are being made by the farmers. In every community the farmers are actively interested, but to date Emelle community is leading all others in the county by having more than 90 per cent of its farmers in the Farm Bureau.

Due to the results of co-operative marketing in this county this year, which have been due to the splendid work of the county agent, the co-operative marketing feature of the Farm Bureau is especially attractive to the Sumter county farmers, who are also greatly interested in the soil building work which the Farm Bureaus in other Alabama counties have under way. In the opinion of Mr. Arnold, practically every leading farmer of Sumter county will join the Farm Bureau before the membership drive is over.

Walker Declines to Meet Morgan

Hartselle football fans, attending the game here yesterday, declared word had been received from Walker county, turning down the offer of Morgan county to play Jasper here on December 2.

"We will not play Morgan under any circumstances," the Walker school's officials are said to have stated in their answer to the Morgan challenge.

THANKSGIVING DAY GIFT OF BIG SUM AWARDED STATE

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 25—Alabama received a Thanksgiving day gift of a few hundred thousand dollars Thursday when the supreme court denied the applications for rehearings in the cases of the state ex rel the attorney-general versus the Pea River Power Company and Elba Bank and Trust Company. The rulings on applications for rehearings end the litigation started by the state in an effort to collect franchise taxes from all corporations which have been exempted by statute from taxation for a period of years.

The supreme court held that the constitution of 1901 required the legislature to levy a franchise tax against every corporation and that the legislature had no authority to exempt any corporation from the payment of a franchise tax. The result will be that the state may go back through the years and determine what franchise taxes should be paid by the corporations under the revenue laws in force at that time.

No estimate can be made of the fund which will go into the state treasury under the decision. The Alabama Power Company will be forced to pay the largest amount, while all other power companies, ship building plants at Mobile and all banks will be forced to pay franchise taxes based on their capital stock from the time they came into existence in Alabama. It is believed the total to come from the banks will be about one hundred thousand dollars, but no one can know what will be paid by the other corporations until auditors have made an examination of the records.

Under an agreement between the state and the corporations interested the decisions of the supreme court on the rehearings will be final and no effort will be made to appeal the cases to the United States supreme court.

The supreme court reversed its previous decision in the case of the Alabama Company versus Cordelia Brown, from the Jefferson circuit court, which reversed and remanded the case to the lower court and rendered a decision in which it conditionally affirmed the action of the lower court in awarding the plaintiff $5,000 for the death of her husband, Albert Brown, which occurred July 28, 1919, while Brown was employed by the company. The supreme court held that the judgment was excessive and directed the plaintiff to file with it within 30 days an agreement remitting one-half of the amount. If the plaintiff does file the agreement within the time allowed the case will be affirmed. If not, the supreme court will reverse and remand the case for another trial. This action was taken under the law enacted in 1915 which gives the supreme court the power to reduce excessive judgments.

UNDER WARM SKIES ALBANY HI DEFEATS DECATUR 41 TO 0 IN A FIERCE STRUGGLE

Local Elevens Stage Spectacular Contest Before Season's Largest Crowd

INITIAL TURKEY DAY CLASH BIG SUCCESS

Neither Team Without Glory in Hardest Fought Game of Year

Under skies which revived memories of the baseball season, Albany won the first annual local gridiron classic Turkey Day, defeating Decatur 41 to 0. Six times the plunging Albany backs tallied touchdowns across the Decatur goal and on five of the six occasions Tuck kicked the goal. The game was witnessed by the largest crowd ever attending a football game here and the spectators were treated to a spectacular contest. Both teams fought desperately and the end of the game found them battling just as hard as they were in the first few minutes.

The presence of an enthusiastic, cheering lot of students from each school on the sidlines gave a colorful touch to the game. Old grads found an appeal to their heartstrings in the game which augers well for the future attendance at the local championship struggle.

A Great Game

The size of the score hardly does justice to the fierceness of the struggle. Albany displayed a marked superiority in line attack and Tuck yesterday, for the first time, seemed to really find himself. The Purple and Gold fullback picked his holes with uncanny judgment and when he plunged into the line, or swept the Decatur ends, he gave all he had in a head-foremost lunge which nearly always netted substantial gain, reaching the heights as a ground gainer. The Albany backfield's interference was much improved and with the line opening gaping holes, they plunged through for first down upon first down. Twice a lay-out pass was successfully worked for touchdowns with Pepper on the receiving end. Tuck intercepted one of Decatur's passes and returned it through a broken field for a touchdown.

The Albany team played a slashing brand of football which carried all before it on the offensive and there was not a member of the squad who did not contribute a full share to the victory and who is not entitled to a measure of glory.

On the other hand, the Decatur eleven is not without its honors. The Black and Gold played a desperate, up-hill game and the size of the score failed to break the heart of the courageous squad. The last minute of play found Decatur fighting for every inch.

Again the team lived up to its reputation of being a better offensive than defensive machine and Decatur's aerial attack in two quarters threw a real thrill into the spectators. Twice in succession Rowden hurled long passes into the waiting arms of a Decatur receiver.

Callahan and Phinizy, while exceedingly light, played aggressive games and Phinizy gave one of the prettiest exhibitions ever seen here in breaking up interference. He dived at the feet of the on-rushing Purple and Gold backs and generally left the runner exposed for a tackle. It was the inability of the Decatur secondary defense to take advantage of these opportunities promptly which generally permitted the Albany backs to make their consistent gains around end. Carl showed well on the receiving end of forward passes while Wilkinson was worked overtime at backing up the line.

The game was marked by a high standard of sportsmanship and both teams deserve a great deal of credit. There is a maxim of the ring which says "a good big man will beat a

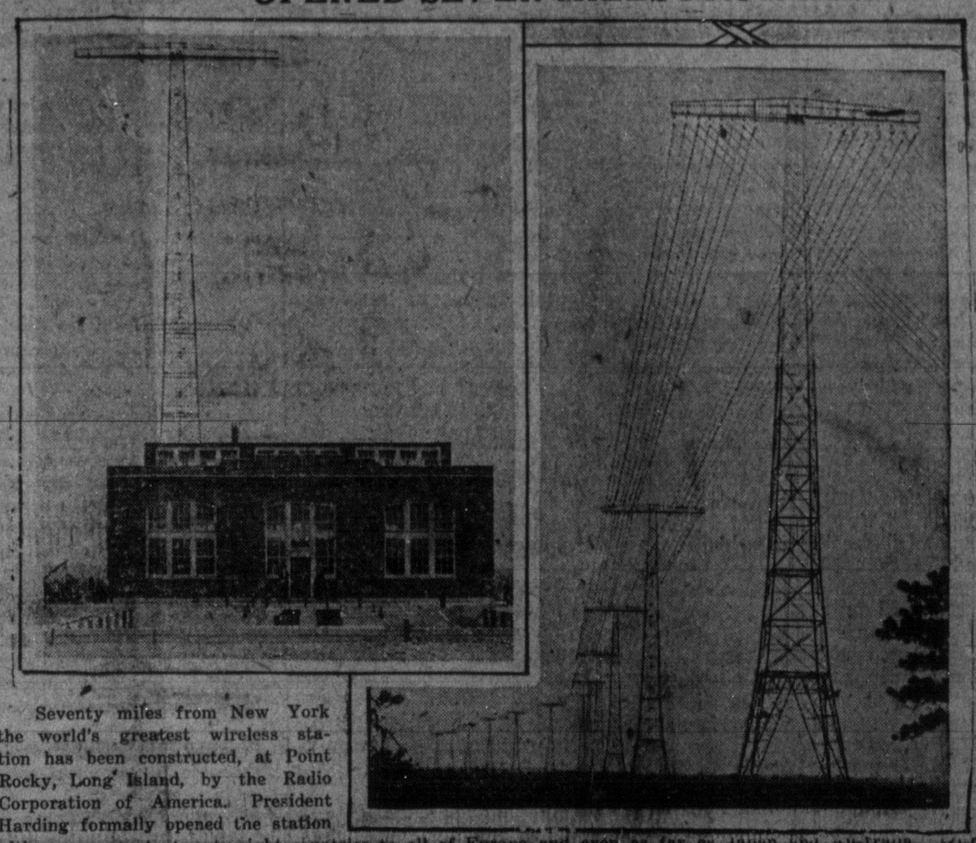
WORLD'S GREATEST WIRELESS STATION IS OPENED SEVEN MILES FROM NEW YORK



Seventy miles from New York the world's greatest wireless station has been constructed, at Point Rocky, Long Island, by the Radio Corporation of America. President Harding formally opened the station with a message to twenty-eight countries to all of Europe and even as far as Japan and Australia. With the opening of Radio Central, New York becomes the focal point of world-wide wireless communication. This means that existing radio and cable facilities to such leading commercial nations as Great Britain, France, Norway and Germany are now supplanted by a direct radio telegraph service. When completed the plant will cover ten square miles and will be so powerful that, with all its energy mobilized behind a message, it can be forced through to its destination no matter what the atmospheric obstacles. It will crash through static in a way that no station in the world can approach. The photographs show the power-house and the towers which are stretched out for a distance of nearly three miles.

REPUBLIC IN ORIENT WILL BE PERMITTED TO MANAGE AFFAIRS WITHOUT MEDDLING

Super Territoriality System, Imposed by Powers, Will be Abolished

VISIT OF BALFOUR TO WILSON IS SURPRISING

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—A decision was reached by the conference powers, meeting in secret session here today, that the system of extra territoriality imposed on China by the treaty power is wrong and should be abolished. The extra territorial system under which foreign nations have set up their courts and exercised jurisdiction over their own nationals on Chinese soil will not be abolished immediately but an agreement was reached that it will gradually be abandoned as China displays an ability to handle such matters herself.

A resolution was drawn up and was approved in principle by all of the powers assembled, it was learned, after speeches had been made defining each nation's position on the question.

Spokesmen for the Chinese delegation made a long and ardent plea for the abolition of the system. Today's decision constitutes, at least, a moral victory for the Chinese. They pleaded for the abolition of the system at Paris, but were turned down.

Considerable surprise and a flood of speculative gossip was evident in diplomatic circles here today when it became known that Hon. A. J. Balfour, head of the British delegation to the conference, was received by former President Wilson at his home here a few days ago. The visit of the veteran English statesman marked the first departure Mr. Wilson has made from his policy of not receiving foreign visitors here to attend the conference.

This policy on the part of the former President was attributed to his fear that his opponents might raise the cry of "Wilson meddling" in the conference.

Marshal Foch, Premier Briand and a number of other distinguished foreign visitors have called at the Wilson home in the last few weeks but none of them have got any further than leaving their card at the door. Balfour, however, was received by the former President in his study and the two had a long and intimate chat, it was learned today.

There was a great deal of speculation as to whether Mr. Balfour's visit was not made the occasion for a talk on French policies, as Balfour and Wilson hold distinctly similar views on the matter of France's policies in Europe.

Decatur Grid Team Will be Banqueted

Members of the Decatur high school football team will be the guests of Decatur business men Monday night at a banquet in their honor at the Lyons hotel, it was announced today. This season is the first in many years the Decatur school has been represented by a football eleven and despite the fact that the team was light, a very creditable record was made. Next year alumni hope to employ an all-time coach for the squad.

THE VICTORIOUS ENTENTE IS STILL ON GUARD DUTY

Last reports from the disarmament conference, state that the delegates have informally agreed to lend France moral support in case that country is attacked. It is believed that the plea of Premier Briand, made a profound impression. Briand is credited with making one of the most disquieting suggestions yet made to the disarmament conference. He said in substance that the sinster forces of military Germany and Bolshevik Russia are about to enter into a compact of offense and defense. M. Briand has been described as the "best diplomatic voice in Europe." That the eloquent Frenchman's words were not regarded lightly is shown beyond question by the expressions it brought out. Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British deleagtion rose and pledged England's aid to France in case that country was attacked. The Japanese spokesman expressed "profound sympathy" for the French nation. Charles E. Hughes said that there "is no moral isolation for the defenders of liberty and justice" meaning the French. M. Briand said that 250,000 Germans were reiving daily, such military training as would enable them to take the field fully munitioned and equipped for war. He claimed that within a short time the German army could be brought up to five or six million men. It is said without contradiction that the "highest authorities in Germany are teaching the people that war is the corner stone of all intellectual development, and ordained of God." The Russian government, with all its claims to democracy, still retains the power of conscription, and can easily call 20,000,000 men to the colors. Neither Germany nor Russia has a stable government. They are almost as liable to revolution and blood shed as a country like Mexico. As showing that Mr. Hughes, does not look upon a war like move from such countries lightly, he said in connection with the debate precipitated by Briand—"There can be no will to peace until the institutions of liberty and justice are secure." It was in this connection that Hughes also made the famous remark—"There is no moral isolation" for the defenders of liberty and justice." This statement can be construed to mean only one thing namely that since the French are not to be isolated morally, neither are they to be separated from the civilized world in a physical sense, and that in case of attack from such nations as Russia and Germany, the victorious Entente, will again be found fighting to common enemy. If the gates of hades are again opened against the French, if civilization does not wish to perish, another world war will result, such at least seems to be the view taken by the representatives of England, America and Japan.

READY TO START SOUTH

A great issue hangs in the balance as a result of the conference in Washington between Henry Ford and Secretary Weeks over the Muscle Shoals enterprise. It is an issue which concerns the south more intimately and profoundly than has any other single industrial undertaking since the Civil war. It represents a development the proportions and wide-reaching ramifications of which grow upon one in the contemplation. It is easy, in consequence, to understand the south's eager interest in the progress of the negotiations and its impatience over the suspense of delay.

The exclusive interview given by the Detroit magnate to a representative of the International News Service, while en route to Washington, and printed in our news columns Thursday afforded a new vision of the potential possibilities of the great enterprise. Mr. Ford's outline of wham he has in mind reads almost like a gorgeous dream, but he has a record of marvelous achievement behind him which convinces that he speaks soberly. Another assurance of his ability to bring things to pass is the fact announced in his statement that Thomas A. Edison is to be associated with him.

That one million men would soon be employed in activities proceeding from the Muscle Shoals plants is an estimate which has to be digested to be fully appreciated. That would put them in advance of any industrial institution in the country, perhaps in the world. The Ford calculation is that electric power employs an average of one man for each horsepower developed, that a maximum of one million horsepower can be produced at the famous shoals and that he can soon find use for all that can be made available for the operation of industry.

It will be recalled that this paper has frequently insisted that all power possible of development at the shoals should be provided for in the lease to Ford or to whoever is given charge of the project. The entire power development should constitute one comprehensive unit. This is true for several reasons. One of these is that the dams planned must all be completed if the navigation of the Tennessee river is to be promoted—or even made possible through the shoals. Another is that the greatest production of power will provide a direct incentive to the establishment of enterprises to use it.

Mr. Ford mentions a few of the possibilities, of the probabilities really. Nitrates will be produced in abundance to enrich the cotton belt. A great aluminum industry will be built up. Cotton will be manufactured from the fibre into cloth. Something will be found in which to employ every particle of power that can be produced. And the the moment the government decides to turn the property over to me." There is something alluring in this announcement.

In the contemplation of this immense project, Mr. Ford takes a look into the future and visualizes some of the things that are to be when the great latent power in our streams is developed and put to work in the service of human-kind—how the agriculture and industry of the future are to be revolutionized and much of the dreary toil of the present eliminated. Henry Ford is a constructive genius. He is more than that. He is a benefactor if for no other reason than that he awakens a distressed world to a realization of some of the desirable things in its reach.—Chattanooga News.

WHAT TO PRINT?

What to print? This is a question that has disturbed many an editor's nightcap. So much depends on the editorial purpose. If the editor seeks to have a wholesome influence, seeks to do good, seeks a reputation for honesty of purpose and honesty of community service he naturally will stick to a conservative course. For somehow exaggeration and sensationalism, not to mention falsehood, do not seem quite to harmonize confidence in the editor's influence. The conservative sheets are duller, but they are trusted the more; and public confidence is a mighty fine foundation on which to build a healthy circulation.

Many persons read the same newspaper for years and years. They become used to its ways, its arrangement of news; and they have confidence in its integrity. It comes to be almost a spiritual consolation to them. They swear by its integrity. It comes to be almost a spiritual consolation to them. They swear by it and they believe in it just as they believe in their pastor or their family physician. This is true especially of readers in the smaller cities, although it prevails everywhere.

Now, it behooves the editor to nurse this attitude, for once it gets a hold on a community it is hard to dislodge. It grows like a river after spring rains, slowly but surely increasing in volume and in strength.

The people bought Greeley's Tribune because they believe that Greeley was honest. They were willing to be influenced by what he said. For the same reason Bowles' Springfield Republican became popular and prosperous. Throughout the country we have repeated instances of newspapers having the confidence of the community because they are honestly conducted.—Chester S. Lord in the Saturday Evening Post.

The regular session of Congress is reported to begin on December 5. It may be we will get the government out of the woods in a business way before Christmas, yet. Henry, by the way did not get the "boys out of the trenches by Christmas," but he will get the government and a lot of the rest out of the hole by next Christmas, if he is allowed to operate Muscle Shoals.

There are two kinds of spys who say we cannot take the industrial promised land of the future. The first kind says labor is too expensive and unproductive, while the latter kind say the Promise land has too many capitalists in it, who are really "blood suckers." The Henry Ford kind of capitalist and his workmen, are the modern Calebs and Josuahs—such say "we are able."

Those whom you openly oppose generally secretly resent it; therefore many people are skittish about whom they correct. The Bible says that the wounds of a friend, are faithful, but adds something like this; but the deceitful man who can endure him.

With many potato curing houses erected all over the country to take care of this season crop, there will be money in the Spring, and this will be uagmented by the crop from many acres of strawberries planted in the Tennessee Valley this year. That is a good star toward money and independence.

There is a good deal of difference between refusing to pull chestnuts off the coals for other people and refusing to help destroy the works of evil. Those who refuse the latter task had best lay in a supply of fire proof clothing.

If the appropriations made by the Twin Cities for schools had not been made, we would have little room to criticize the federal government should it withhold an appropriation to complete Wilson dam.

"You can't keep a squirrel on the ground"—unless he is dead. They cannot keep Henry Ford away from Muscle Shoals, unless they break his heart with delays.

Piety is saved up goodness; and it takes a mighty cold storage to keep it. Being pious is like hoarding money, it does no body any good. But thieves cannot break through and steal loving service.

There is only one question to be answered, to know whether or not Henry Ford will be awarded the Muscle Shoals—Is the great U. S. government as quick to see a good bargain as Henry is.

Some of the Bible students are busy finding whether or not the Bible said any thing about battle ships being scrapped or beaten into Automobiles, ever since Uncle Hank, offered to buy all the old ships in sight.

Every church spire is a shaft of hope, and every school building a temple of liberty. Without these two, no country would do even to spend a day in, and no one would care to pass that way if there was a way around.

Right action is sure to bring right results; but a day is the same as a thousand years with the Great First Cause of all results, therefore keep on acting right, and win if it takes a million years to do it.

John Sharp Williams told Thomas E. Watson, that beside Henry Ford, both he and Watson, were know nothings. Senator Williams is big enough to afford to say he does not know it all.

Too Much of a Good Thing

"It is six years since I had my first stomach trouble. It rapidly grew worse. My food would not digest and I was reduced to skin and bone. My doctor put me on a starvation diet, and when my pains grew worse I concluded it was too much of a good thing. On the advice of my druggist I tried Mayr's Wonderful Demedy, and am now entirely well." It is a simple preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Rheumatism Can Be Cured!

But You Must Clear Your Blood of Waste Products.

Lack of exercise and improper diet causes waste products to accumulate in the blood. You will at once realize that unless the blood is pure, some part of the body will become diseased.

Rheumatism, with its pain and agony, is one of the most serious diseases caused by waste products in the blood. You know, of course, the blood is not confined alone to the arteries and veins. It passes out of these channels to all parts of the body. This is how sediments or waste products are deposited in the muscles and joints. Genuine relief can be had only by correcting the basic trouble—waste products.

Thousands and thousands of men and women during the past 50 years have cleared their blood of waste products with S. S. S. It is the ideal remedy for rheumatism, because it removes the poisonous waste matter which is causing the trouble. There are no bad after effects and the result is wonderful. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 56 page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

Personal medical advice, without charge, may also be had by sending a complete description of your case. Address Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 731 S. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. All good drug stores sell S. S. S.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

How Madge Summoned Help at Last.

I DO not think I ever have faced a quandary so puzzling as the one which confronted me when I had finished washing the blood from the face of the wounded young state trooper.

Even my limited knowledge told me that a surgeon's aid was imperative. I had done all that any one save a professional could do, and I could do no good by remaining at his side.

Yet I hated to leave him alone, and apparently dying in that lonely place. Suppose he regained consciousness, wished to send some message, or suppose some prowling beast—harmless enough if he were not helpless on the ground—my brain ran the gamut of the horrible possibilities my absence might make realities.

Besides—I never have counted myself more of a coward than most women—but I confess that I was afraid, deathly so, to make the journey which I realized I must take to the spot in the road where I had left the car—luckily I had a key to it in my pocket—and from thence to some house where I could get hold of a telephone and summon a surgeon.

I reflected anxiously that we had come by so devious a way I had no idea which way to drive the car when I should reach it, and the hour was nearly midnight. There would be but little chance of meeting another motor car, even if I safely accomplished the trip through the woods path which I must take before reaching the place where we had left our machine.

Quick Thinking.

A glance at the white face of the unconscious boy on the ground steeled my courage with the thought of the possible horrors which might come to my own lad when he should have outgrown my care and protection.

Yet so great was my terror of the lurking menace between me and the state road that for a minute I hesitated, waited, straining my ears to hear if there were one sound to indicate the proximity of the rest of the fishing party. Dicky, Bess Dean, Pa Cosgrove and the twins—they might have been translated to some other sphere for any indication I had of their nearness.

If I only had a revolver! It would not only be a protection against the possible return of the desperado who had so lately crawled away into the woods, but a shot would also be a signal to Pa Cosgrove and the rest. I had not dared to scream for fear the man who had threatened me might return. But a pistol shot was different. It would alarm him as much as it would my friends.

But I had no revolver, and with a clinching of my teeth I started to crawl up the path that led to the shelter of the woods, where I would dare to stand upright. And then a sudden thought sent me back again to the wounded trooper's side. I removed gently but rapidly the blanket and coat I had wrapped around him, scanned his belt for the heavy service revolver with which I knew officers like him were equipped. It was not there, but even as a sob of disappointment tore from my throat, I noticed a protuberance in his blouse, and, tearing it open, took out the gun, wrapped in a heavy cloth.

No time to wonder now how it had come there, or why it had been overlooked by the man who struck him down. I seized it, broke it, saw that it was fully loaded, and, with a little wave of thanfulness for the few lessons in the use of firearms I had been given, I pointed the heavy gun into the air and fired twice.

Then, trembling with nervous fear, I crouched by the wounded trooper, my face toward the direction in which his assailant had crawled away, my nerves quivering for the first sound which should indicate that my shots had been heard.

For a second or two there was but the echo of the shots, crashing away into the mountains, and then I heard a faint: "He-ll-o!"

It was repeated at intervals of half a minute, and soon I heard the snapping of sticks, then the sound of running footsteps, and the excited voices of Pa Cosgrove and Fred.

"Mrs. Graham! Ted! Mrs. Graham! Ted!" they were calling tensely, excitedly, and I realized that they supposed Ted to be with me, and guessed that they would never have wandered so far away if they had not counted upon his protecting care of me.

"Here I am! Oh, please come quickly!" At the nearness of help the fictitious bravery and strength I had felt began to ooze out of my finger-tips.

"Right here." The running footsteps rounded the bend in the shore, and Pa Cosgrove and Fred rushed up to me, stopped in amazement at the sight of the wounded trooper.

"Good God! Mrs. Graham!" the elder man gasped. "What is it? Are you hurt?"

"No. I'm all right," I said faintly, fighting to keep my composure and my strength. "But if you'll just take this gun."

I held the thing out gingerly, for I hate the sight or touch of a revolver, even though I can use one in an emergency.

Pa Cosgrove took it, and then knelt down by the wounded trooper while I told him as quickly as possible what had happened. As I talked he examined with practiced fingers the bandage I had put on, and I saw him nod in approval of it. And when I had finished he said decisively:

"We've got to get him out of here right away. Have you seen anything of your husband lately?"

HARD LUCK CAMPS ON FAMILY'S TRAIL

(International News Service)

ANNISTON, Ala., Nov. 25—A violent fall from a bicycle while riding along a rough mountain road Thursday broke the leg of Artus Wilkerson, son of A. J. Wilkerson, of Duck Nest Springs in Talladega county. Troubles of every kind seem to have camped on the trail of the Wilkerson family in recent months.

An older brother of the injured youth was killed in a fight with prohibition officers a few weeks ago. Prior to that another brother was killed in France. W. W. Wilkerson, an uncle of the boy, recently lost his home and its entire contents by fire.

COTTON MARKET OPENING WEAKER

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—On poor cables from Liverpool and a somewhat less favorable impression concerning developments at Washington, the cotton market dropped 18 to 46 points from Wednesday's very fine close. There was active local and New Orleans selling and also considerable unloading. Pressure increased and by the end of the first 15 minutes the list was about 35 to 38 points net lower on active months.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in yous ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

REMEDIAL DEFECTS OF KIDDIES FEWER

A decrease in the number of children with remedial defects in the Decatur schools was reported today by Dr. B. F. Austin, county health officer. Last year when the physical examinations were made 368 children were found to be suffering remedial defects, the report stated, but this year there were only 273 defectives.

The report follows:

We are very much gratified with the work of getting defects remedied among the school children of Decatur. Last year when making the physical examination we found 368 children in the Decatur Schools suffering with remedial defects that were capable of causing serious trouble and retarding physical and mental development. Of these 219 have been corrected.

This year only 273 defects were found and every effort is being made to get them corrected. Many children were found to be underweight, but 73 were found to be more than 10% underweight according to the table of standard weights for height and age.

In order to assist these underweight children in reaching the standard in weight, nutrition classes are to be organized in the near future. These classes will be taught by the County Health Officer and County Nurse in cooperation with some of the teachers. Other pupils than those who are underweight will probably enter these classes also.

WITT-BIVINGS WEDDING QUIETLY CELEBRATED AT "WOODSIDE."

The marriage of Miss Florence Witt, daughter of Mrs. John R. Witt, of Belle Mina, was quietly solemnized Thursday at 2:30 o'clock to Dr. Lee Bivings, of New York. "Woodside," the country home of the bride, was made into a garden of chrysanthemums and roses as a setting for the wedding of this charming young girl.

A prenuptial program was rendered by Miss Mamie Crutcher, assisted by Miss Francis, who in lovely voice rendered "Because" and "You and I." To the strains of Mendelssohn, the bride and groom entered the drawing room. She wore her traveling dress of dark blue, effectively developed in appleque and a suggestion of metal thread embroidery, and matching accessories, and carried an arm shower of brides roses and valley lillies. Dr. B. D. Glasgow, of Athens college, officiated and the wedding tableau was formed before an impravised altar of ferns and chrysanthemums.

The guests were received by Mrs. Bradley Bibb, charming in an afternoon gown of black beaded kitten ear crepe; Mrs. Gilbert White, wearing a gown of blue beaded georgette, and Miss Nettie Lou Witt, wearing brown satin with trimmings of beads. Many handsome gifts were presented the bride and groom. Dr. and Mrs. Bivings have gone to New York where they will reside.

Mrs. Sam H. Byars, Mrs. Fullerton and Mrs. Kaminsky, of Birmingham, are the week-end guests of Mrs. E. M. Odom.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yoe spent Thanksgiving in Birmingham, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

Y. P. M. S.

Miss Mary Daniels was hostess Tuesday afternoon, November 22, when she entertained the young people's missionary society of the First Methodist church. The meeting opened with a song, after which the devotional was led by Mrs. W. R. Ritter, the lesson being a selection from Acts. During the business hour, December 3rd was decided on for the Christmas bazaar. There being no further business the society was dismissed with the benediction. A social hour followed and light refreshments were served.

R. E. Chandler, who recently underwent an operation at the Benevolent hospital, has returned home much improved in health. Though unable to take up active duties, it will be only a short time until he will be able to resume.

W. R. Smith, prominent local business man, who was operated on in Nashville Wednesday, was doing nicely today. Reports from his bedside were very encouraging to his many friends here. However, developments from the operation will not be known definitely until probably Saturday.

Russell L. Jenkins spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, of East Grant street. Mr. Jenkins is on his way from Pittsburg, Pa., to Jacksonville, Fla., where he will have charge of the chemical laboratory of Armour Fertilizer Works.

Milton Sills and an All-Star Cast

In her great drama of Mother Love.

"Salvage"

One mother sacrifices her child's happiness on the altar of pleasure. Another forsakes wealth, position, name and everything for a child's love. One wins death. The other all that the world holds dear. You have never seen Frederick rise to such heights as she does in this picture.

Also a Monty Banks Comedy

If you are having baking-troubles, sorry flour is to blame . . .

BAD wheat makes sorry flour . . . and a glut of bad wheat is pouring into market now!

Last Spring wheat got an early setback . . . a sharp freeze after a premature warm spell. Wheat's vitality suffered in many sections. Some of it matured well . . . not all of it, by any means . . . but even what was good and had the quality, was like a delicate child. It needed devoted care.

Wheat harvested in July came through all right, when it was properly stored and cured. But the wheat that waited in the shock was wet by too frequent showers . . . and such wheat could not dry well . . . under usual conditions.

That damp wheat, stored in farmers' bins or country elevators . . . lacking special care . . . grew musty; weevil attacked it . . .

That is the wheat coming into market now. No wonder it makes the wretched flour that causes baking-troubles!

But you will have no trouble with Valier's Dainty Flour. Our wheat was bought early. We got our full year's supply for Dainty before the showers fell. We got the highest grade of the choicest wheat, in the finest condition.

First in the field, we got the very pick of the crop . . . and, luckily, we have vast storage capacity in our huge, modern elevators, right at the mill.

Besides, we have experts who turned the wheat . . . aired it constantly . . . cured it perfectly . . . so we can mill it into rich, flavor-giving Dainty Flour.

But only a very few flour mills have such facilities as ours for buying early, for storing properly, for caring for the wheat perfectly. Most millers have to buy from hand to mouth. When July was gone, so was their one chance to buy wheat worth having.

That is exactly why so many women are being worried today over spoiled baking, all through the South. But you never will find anyone vexed over Dainty Flour.

Of course, Dainty does cost a little more . . . because the perfect wheat which makes this flour costs a premium price. But it certainly does pay you to buy Dainty, in the long run. You save on lard when you use it; and your baking comes out right.

Now that you know about flour, of course you too will order Dainty . . . and thus get rid of any possible risk of baking failures.

Governor Sends Out Proclamation

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 25—Governor Kilby mailed to all counties in the state today proclamations giving notice of the special election January 430, at which the voters of Alabama will determine whether or not the state may issue bonds to the amount of $25,000,000 for the construction of a system of permanent roads and whether or not ex-service men may participate in elections until September 30, 1923, without the payment of poll taxes.

Under the law the proclamation must be published in every county at least eight successive weeks before the election. This will force a large number of county newspapers to publish editions Christmas week. It has been the custom with many newspapers not to publish any paper during Christmas week.

COOLIDGE BABY SERIOUSLY HURT

Little Jack Coolidge, Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coolidge, of Albany, was operated on at the Benevolent hospital Wednesday night and a piece of his skull removed as a result of an accident at the parent's home in West Albany Wednesday. The baby was swinging in a jumper, it was stated, when there was a break in one of the springs and it struck the infant on the head, fracturing the skull.

The child was reported resting as well as could be expected today and hope is entertained now for his recovery.

Rehearing Denied in Wade's Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 25—Charley Wade, of Birmingham, who was convicted and given a term in prison for mayhem after a sordid trial behind closed doors in the Jefferson circuit court, will be given another trial before the public in an open court room under a decision of the supreme court Thursday which denied the application for rehearing filed by the state.

When Wade's case was called all persons except witnesses, attorneys and relatives of the defendant and the complaining witness were excluded from the court room. Wade's attorneys made no protest, but when the jury convicted him they filed an application for another trial on the ground that his rights guaranteed by the constitution were invaded when the public was excluded. The court of appeals affirmed the lower court, announcing that Wade had not made his motion for a public trial within the proper time but had waived it. The supreme court reversed the decision of the court of appeals, holding that the right of a public trial was guaranteed by the constitution and could not be waived even by the defendant himself. The state filed an application for rehearing but the supreme court overruled it Thursday.

BOY PAROLED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 25—(Special)—Clinton Heaton, 16-year-old white boy of Jackson county, who was convicted of burglary and sentenced to from one year and one day to one year and six months in prison, was paroled into the boys' industrial school by Governor Kilby today.

Governor Kilby also issued an order paroling Willie Dennis, of Macon, into the state training school for juvenile negro lawbreakers at Mount Meigs. Dennis was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree and sentenced to seven years in prison.

AGED PRISONER BURNS HIMSELF

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, Ala., Nov. 25—Carpenters today were repairing the damage done in the Wilcox county jail Wednesday night when William Smith, 70, committed suicide by burning himself to death. He had been placed in jail charged with stabbing James Smith, following a difficulty over domestic affairs.

The aged man received a gunshot wound in the affray with James Smith. Brooding over the tangled affairs of his family is believed to have caused him to saturate his clothing with kerosene and make of himself a human torch. Deputy sheriffs rushed to his cell when he was discovered on fire, but arrived too late to save Smith's life.

POISON GAS FINDS ITS ADVOCATES TOO

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—Poison gas, denounced during the world war as a barbarous weapon, is to be defended in the arms limitation conference on the ground that it affords the best means yet devised for protecting civilization from inferior races, it was learned authoritatively today. It will be argued also that because of the close affinity between certain necessary industries and poison gas manufacture, limitation of the development of the science of chemical warfare is practically impossible, as experiments can be conducted in secret and industrial plants quickly converted in the event of war.

Great Britain, France and the United States are understood to favor the retention of gas as a weapon of warfare.

SPECIAL SERVICE TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

Special services will be held Sunday at the Central Baptist church, marking the fourth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. W. P. Wilks. His pastorate has been very successful and during the four years he has been here the membership has increased from 489 to more than 700. Contributions have increased from $5,000 to more than $11,000. A cordial invitation was extended to the public to attend the services Sunday.

Convict Returns to the State Pen

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 25—Dave Stevens, white convict of St. Clair county, who has been at liberty illegally since 1917, was returned to the penitentiary today to continue a life sentence for murder. Stevens was convicted in 1913 but was granted a 90 day parole in 1917 in order that he might return to his home and remain during the illness of members of his family.

Stevens did not return, but was rearrested last week at Buchanan, Ga. Finger prints made by the convict department convinced officials that he was the escaped convict.

A BLOOD BUILDER FOR TIRED WOMEN

Pepto-Mangan Makes Red Blood—Sold in Liquid or Tablet Form

When a woman overworks, either mentally or physically, there is a strain on the vitality. Getting up in the morning she feels low in spirits. Her eyes are dull, her complexion is sallow or pasty.

A few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken in regular doses is what will build up her blood.

The reason for this is unknown. It is simply that Gude's Pepto-Mangan makes blood rich and red. It has the things in it that make new blood and drive out the poisons in the system. New blood makes new vigor and gradually the depressed feelings vanish, the natural healthy glow comes back to the skin and there is pleasure in living.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is sold at all drug stores in liquid or tablet form. The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.

WEAK; RUN-DOWN

Carolina Lady Got So She Could Just Drag.—"Cardui Built Me Up," She Declares.

Kernersville, N. C.—In an interesting statement regarding Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, Mrs. Wesley Mabe, of near here, recently said: "I have known Cardui for years, but never knew its worth until a year or so ago. I was in a weakened, run-down condition. I became draggy—didn't eat or sleep to do any good; couldn't do anything without a great effort. I tried different remedies and medicines, yet I continued to drag.

"I decided to give Cardui a trial, and found it was just what I really needed. It made me feel much stronger soon after I began to use it. I began to eat more, and the nervous, weak feeling began to leave. Soon I was sleeping good.

"Cardui built me up as no other tonic ever did.

"I used Cardui with one daughter who was puny, felt bad and tired out all the time. It brought her right out, and soon she was as well as a girl could be. We think there is nothing like Cardui."

Do not allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. You may find it just what you really need. For more than 40 years it has been used by thousands and thousands, and found just as Mrs. Mabe describes.

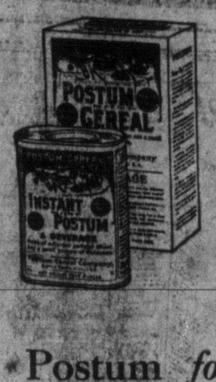
The key to success is work—
There is no substitute for it!

In order to do your best work, you must be healthy. You must sleep soundly at night, your nerves must be strong, steady and under perfect control.

If you are accustomed to drinking tea or coffee with your meals or between meals, you may be loading yourself with a very great handicap. Your nervous system may be stimulated beyond what is natural for you.

For tea and coffee contain thein and caffeine. These are drugs, as any doctor can tell you. They are known to irritate the nervous system by their action and to cause restlessness and insomnia, which prevent the proper recuperation of the vital forces.

If you want to be at your best, capable of doing the very best work that lies in you, why not stop drinking tea and coffee? Drink Postum, the rich, satisfying beverage made from scientifically roasted cereals.



Postum contains absolutely no drugs of any kind, but in flavor tastes much like rich coffee. It helps nerve and brain structure by letting you get sound restful sleep.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Ask your grocer for Postum. Sold everywhere.
